

International seminar series

Parrhesia in Antiquity and in early Christianity

TRUTHFULNESS, PARADOX, AND PARRHESIA IN PLOTINUS' METHOD OF TEACHING

Prof. Dr. habil. Mateusz Stróżyński
Adam Mickiewicz University, Poland

Monday, April 25, 2022

5:00 PM to 6:00 PM

In-person at the main hall library of the Newman Centre of McGill University
(3484 Peel Street)

Mateusz Stróżyński is a classical philologist, philosopher, psychologist and psychotherapist, currently working as an associate professor in the Institute of Classical Philology of the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, Poland. Since January, he is also the Director of the Institute. He is primarily interested in the Platonic tradition (spiritual exercises, contemplation, mysticism, psychoanalysis, and myth).

Organizer: Dr. Pablo Irizar, Faculty Lecturer, Kennedy Smith Chair in Catholic Studies, McGill University